

MEMPHIS BANKERS TO NEW ORLEANS TO TALK COTTON

Meeting Will Take Up Plans of American Bankers' Association to Form Cotton Export Corporation.

Dwight M. Armstrong, vice-president of the Commercial Trust and Savings bank, and J. Kemps Bayne, vice-president of the Union and Planters' Bank and Trust company, will leave Friday night for New Orleans to attend a meeting of Southern bankers to discuss plans for the launching of a Southern corporation to handle export cotton.

Enough encouragement has come to leaders of the plan to warrant the belief on their part that the corporation can be put through in short order, according to Mr. Armstrong, who is a member of the committee of Southern bankers appointed by the American Bankers' association to make the matter up in the South.

The New Orleans Clearing House association has approved the plan. Reports from Atlanta, while not stating definitely that the clearing house association has endorsed the plan, are so favorable as to lead to the belief that the endorsement has been given. If not, the banking fraternity of Atlanta is solidly behind the plan.

The Memphis Clearing House association has not endorsed the plan, although this endorsement may come later. Meanwhile, the Memphis Cotton exchange, representing the cotton interests of the Memphis trade district, has adopted resolutions approving the plan and pledging the support of its members to the corporation, should definite plans be adopted and the corporation actually chartered. It is probable that many cotton men will attend the New Orleans meeting.

The New Orleans meeting will have nothing but tentative plans to go upon. However, they will have their guidance the provisions of the Edge act, which is a part of the federal reserve act. That act prescribes conditions and methods under which such corporations may be organized and operated. In any case, the corporation will be subject to the supervision of the federal reserve board.

This feature, according to Mr. Armstrong, will safeguard interests in the concern, insofar as it will guarantee strict compliance with the law and will insure a business-like administration of the affairs of the company.

Bankers from all over the South are expected to be in attendance at the meeting. Mr. Armstrong had personal assurance that four, maybe six, would go from Mississippi, and reports from other cotton-growing states indicate that the entire cotton belt will be well represented.

If plans discussed are adopted, it is probable that immediate application for a charter will be made. After that, the time it will take to actually get down to work in extending credits abroad and thus helping out the cotton situation will depend upon the matter of finances.

EDUCATORS TO MEET AT STATE NORMAL SCHOOL

Dr. A. A. Kincannon, president of the West Tennessee Normal school, is preparing for an educational conference at the school at a date yet to be announced. The conference probably will take place shortly after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Attending the conference will be Gov.-Elect Taylor, the Shelby county legislative delegation, the members-elect of the legislature from all West Tennessee counties, the county superintendents of education from West Tennessee and the state superintendent of public education.

The conference is for the purpose of outlining a policy for progressive school work for the next two years. Dr. Kincannon returned Friday from Nashville where he met with the state board of education. The presidents of the normal schools were instructed to prepare an outline of progressive recommendations for application to the schools and submit the reports to the next meeting of the board for discussion and approval.

SELL MAGAZINE FOR NEWSBOYS' GYMNASIUM

The Pictorial Review company, through its local distributor, Vance S. Reese, has given to the Newsboys' club, of Memphis, 500 copies of the November issue for sale on the street corners Saturday. The proceeds of this sale will be applied by the newsboys to the fund which they now have for their new gymnasium. The boys have promised a good selling campaign, which will mean a bigger and better gymnasium than originally planned.

BANKERS WILL MEET.

At the Saturday meeting of the Bankers' club, which will be held at Hotel Gayoso, Memphis delegates to the recent Washington meeting of the American Bankers' association, will report on their trip. Dwight M. Armstrong, president of the club, will preside.

A bill to establish a universal automobile license will be taken up by Congress in the near future—Goodrich.
